Italian eatery in Fairview gets top marks

St. Louis Magazine picked Agostino's Restaurant in Fairview Heights as the top Italian restaurant that offers "Hill-Style Dining in the Burbs."

The magazine's February 2014 issue chose 50 restaurants for The Best Italian Dining in St. Louis, dividing them into categories, from Wallet Watchers to Rav It Up.

Here is some of what the magazine said about Agostino's: "Mama' Rosa Gabriele, the matriarch of arguably the most storied family in St. Louis' Italian restaurant history, not only oversees her family's operations ..., but also continues to bake bread and do prep work." Agostino's is at 130 Ludwig Dr. (next to Red Lobster), 618-394-1800, agostinoscatering.com.

Bella Milano, with locations in O'Fallon and Edwardsville, took second place, with Mungo's coming in fourth.
